Gladiolus

Gladiolus

The gladiolus, commonly known as the sword lily, is a genus of perennial cormous flowering plants in the iris family (Iridaceae).

Overall, gladiolus are a versatile and beautiful addition to any garden, offering dramatic visual impact with their tall, colorful flower spikes.

Gladiolus
Amsterdam

Item C17771
Height: 55-65"
Amsterdam, reintroduced for 2024, is a standard variety in the commercial cut flower industry. It is a dependable white that performs well year over year. 80-85 days to bloom

Gladiolus
Adrenalin

Item C17744
Height: 50-60"
Soft pink with a darker pink centre. 85-90 days to bloom

Gladiolus
Chit Chat

Item C17708
Height: 50-60"
Bright pink with white throat. 80-90 days to bloom

Gladiolus
Commercial Mix

Item C17700
Height: 35-50"
This custom blend of varieties offers customers a wide range of colours in varying flowering times. Ideal for roadside stand and market gardeners. This mixture makes for straight forward planting. For succession of bloom all summer long, we recommend three planting stages, two weeks apart, beginning in early May.

Gladiolus
Fiorentina

Item C17719
Height: 50"-60"
Fiorentina's orchid-like blossoms are showy white with a bold, raspberry red splash. It is an eye-catching choice for any garden or bouquet. 80-85 days to bloom.

Gladiolus
Green Star

Item C17717
Height: 50"-60"
A unique ruffled lime green bloom. Green star pairs well with both bold and pastel blooms. 80-85 days to bloom.

Gladiolus
Olympic Flame

Item C17712
Height: 50-60"
A tall vibrant orange and yellow bicolor, Olympic Flame has been popular for many years. Strong stems with long flower spikes and ruffled blooms makes this an excellent variety. 75-80 days to bloom

Gladiolus
Oscar

Item C17710
Height: 50-60"
Large velvety bloom in a true Canadian red makes this classic an excellent choice. Its flowers dependably from year to year on heavy stems and large flower spikes. In our experience, Oscar does best when planted early to ensure flowering before the cool wet days of September arrive. 85-90 days to bloom.

Gladiolus
Pastel Mix

Item C17728
Height: 50-60"
This custom blend of varieties offers customers a wide range of soft colours in varying flowering times. Ideal for roadside stand and market gardeners. This mixture makes for straight forward planting. For succession of bloom all summer long, we recommend three planting stages, two weeks apart, beginning in early May.

Gladiolus
Purple Flora

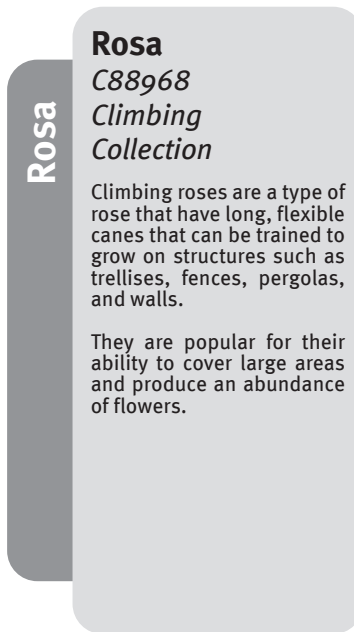

Item C17705
Height: 50-60"
Purple Flora is renown for its velvety deep purple flowers that open from dark indigo buds. Its all around dependability makes it an excellent choice. 70-75 days to bloom.

Gladiolus
Strong Gold

Item C17759
Height: 50-60"
Strong Gold has showy golden yellow blooms that are a great addition to any garden or bouquet. 70-85 days to bloom.
